KEYNOTES

OPENING GENERAL SESSION

Shawn Kanungo

“The Age of Infinity – Generative AI and Our Future”

FOS: Technology/1.0 RCH/1.0 CPE credit

With the rise of generative artificial intelligence (AI), cloud technologies, and remote talent, we’re entering into an age of infinite leverage where our work can be replicated at no cost, and we don’t need permission to get started. As a result, we can build exponential organizations – a new breed of businesses that can be more nimble, flexible, and highly leveraged. In this provocative and counterintuitive session, Shawn dives deep into the age of AI and infinite leverage. He explores why this will shape the future, and how it will impact culture, business, technology, and individuals.

Sponsored by rapid!

GENERAL SESSION

Lynda Gratton

“The Future of Work Is Now, and Here Is How to Thrive”

FOS: Personal Development/1.0 RCH/1.0 CPE credit

We are living and working longer, in career paths that are morphing from the traditional three stages to something more individual, more flexible, more multi-staged – and potentially more exciting. And in this post-pandemic world, we are still experimenting with new ways of working and questioning our assumptions about what it takes to be a high performer. In this session, Lynda draws on her deep expertise to show the future of work is now, and how best to adapt and thrive. Lynda describes what this means for careers, for working practices, for the design of work, and importantly for managers and leaders.

CLOSING GENERAL SESSION

Kelly Swanson

“The Persuasion Principle: Connect and Engage Through the Power of Story”

FOS: Personal Development/1.0 RCH/1.0 CPE credit

No matter what position you have, what strategies you bring, or what end result you desire – you had better do more than just “communicate effectively.” This isn’t the 50s anymore. In fact, the way we communicate isn’t the same as it was even five years ago. In this funny and motivating session, Kelly will share six secrets to connect and engage with teams and business leaders alike through the power of story. Plus, learn how to rewrite your own inner script to overcome stress and inspire greater motivation in yourself and others.
